4 Gründe für Degrowth

Stop the eco-collapse!

Our economy is damaging the environment and driving climate change. The idea of "green growth" does not really help and instead creates new problems.

Find a meaningful work

In a degrowth society, we reduce harmful sectors such as fossil fuels, mass production of meat and cars. Instead, workers are trained for urgent socio-ecological goals, such as installing renewable energies, regenerating ecosystems and improving social care.

Say ciao to constant stress!

If politicians focus on degrowth, i.e. less growth, and reduce working hours and introduce basic services, we will have more time for ourselves and others. This reduces stress and enables a happier life.

Support global justice

Inequality and social injustice are on the rise. Degrowth can counteract this with political measures and by stopping exploitation in the Global South.
